Another brilliant week in Maple!

In Maths this week we have been consolidating our understanding of area, working hard to remember our units and interpret worded problems. Towards the end of the week, we also completed some of our Autumn assessments. Everyone showed fantastic resilience and tried their very best!

In our Guided Reading lessons, some of us were brave enough to take on the rolls of astronauts Neil Armstrong, Buzz Aldrin and Michael Collins in our hot seating activity. We used the questions we prepared last week to interview the astronauts, asking them how they felt on their mission, what their training experience was like and many more! Some brilliant answers and acting on display!

This week in school has also been Anti-bullying week, where this year's theme is "Break the Silence". As a class, we have been thinking about what defines bullying, how we can help others experiencing it and how to speak out and get help. We worked together to design some posters promoting this year's message which we will display around the school. They look fantastic!

Remember to keep practising your script for our Christmas show!

Have a lovely weekend
