Cherry Class Newsletter

A lovely week in Cherry Class!

Last week, we started our topic and learnt about present day London. In particular, we learnt about the job of an architect and found out about Zaha Hadid who planned and designed London's famous aquatic centre. The children all had a go at designing an unusual and exciting building. They all had very creative ideas including: a forest inside an owl-shaped building, a farm inside a chicken shaped building, a hotel shaped like a rocket and a football pitch inside a building shaped like a football!

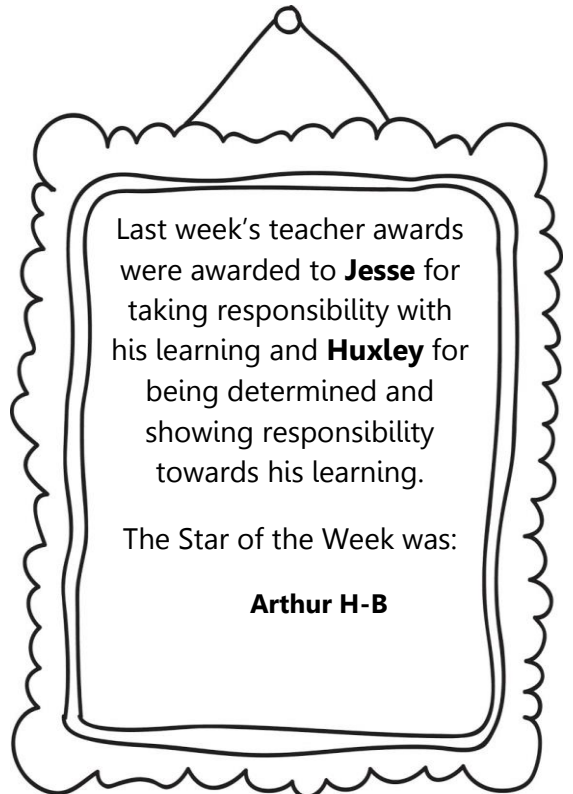

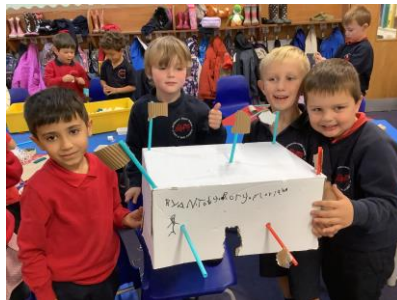

This week we are moving on to learning about London in the past and comparing it to what it looks like presently.

This week we have our Harvest assembly up at the church and on Monday will be singing a lovely version of 'Big Red Combine Harvester' with Willow class!

Please may I ask that every child is reading at home more than twice a week. Little Wandle and school advise that the book is read three times before being changed. The first time focusing on decoding, second time focussing on prosody and expression and third time focusing on deepening the comprehension. These are all the skills we learn during our phonics and guided reading sessions but it is also important that it is also being embedded and practised at home.

I hope you have a lovely week!
