

11/12/23/

Cherry Class Newsletter

A Christmas filled last week!

I was so incredibly proud of Cherry Class on Tuesday for their beautiful Christmas performance. They sang and acted wonderfully and certainly made us all feel in the Christmas spirit! Well done, Cherries!

Last week we were also treated to a delicious Christmas lunch which all children enjoyed. I have put some lovely pictures under this newsletter for you to share with family and friends. Furthermore, on Friday Steve Cook held a Christmas rugby session! He was delighted with how many children were wearing Christmas hats and having fun!

We also completed our non-fiction explanation text book based on extinct animals. All children are proud of the work they have produced for this book. I will be putting the book on display either outside from Wednesday after school to Friday after school or in the office depending on weather for you to look at!

This week, we are finishing our science unit of materials by completing some exciting experiments based on absorption of water and whether objects can float or sink. We will also be having a Christmas party with Willow class on Wednesday afternoon!

Wishing you all a Merry Christmas and a Happy and Healthy New Year!

Georgie and the Cherry Class Team!

Last week I put a phonics progress report into each child's PACT folder containing the sounds they know and the sounds they need to practice. Over the last term we have noticed a drop in reading at home. It is important to be reading at home at least three times a week to help embed their phonics and improve their comprehension skills. Thank you!

Dates:-

Wednesday 1:30-2:15- Christmas party with Willow class

Thursday 10:00- Church service

Friday 2pm- end school

