

Maple Class Newsletter

05/11/25

Another fantastic week in Maple!

In Maths this week we've continued to persevere with our fractions topic, focusing on how we can convert between improper fractions and mixed numbers as well as adding and subtracting fractions. This is a tricky topic, but we have continued to show great resilience and everyone is making brilliant progress.

In Guided Reading, we had our hot-seating lesson where several children bravely took on the roles of Buzz Aldrin, Michael Collins or Neil Armstrong, while the rest of the class were journalists. The questions received detailed, accurate answers, truly embodying the roles to create some very convincing astronauts!

The majority of our afternoons this week have been full of singing and rehearsals for our upcoming Christmas show "No One Wraps Like an Elf". Everyone in Maple has been working incredibly hard and it is looking wonderful – make sure you come and see it next week (you're in for a real treat!)

Have a lovely weekend!

Katy and Maple Class

This week's awards

No celebration assembly
this week due to KS1
Christmas performance

Next week's learning

Maths: Continuing fractions

English: Writing: Fiction unit on warning tales, Reading: Moon Landing newspaper article, Spelling: reviewing term 2 words

Science: The moon

Topic: Viking gods and goddesses

RE: Messages in the Bible

Reminders

Tuesday: Dress rehearsal

Wednesday: KS2
Christmas Shows

Thursday: KS2 Christmas dinner