

Maple Class Newsletter

06/03/26

Another great week in Maple!

The children have worked incredibly hard this week completing this term's maths assessments. I am very proud of the positive attitude, focus and determination everyone showed towards these. Everyone has made great progress!

This week has been full of activities for Book Week, including a visit from an author, our dress up parade on Friday and of course the launch of our wonderful new library – we can't wait to start using it! Some of us have already been busy writing applications to become a librarian, taking on the responsibility to look after this wonderful new space.

As part of book week, we have been reading "The Strangeworlds Travel Agency". On Wednesday, we spent the whole day immersed in this tale and created our own Strangeworlds! We wrote our own setting descriptions, created models in art and even created some AI generated images from our descriptions! We are hoping to share this work with you in a few weeks' time in our Spring Concert.

On Friday, we also got the chance to share our persuasive speeches with Sally for our ideas to change in school. She was very impressed with our ideas and we can't wait to see which ones might become a reality!

Have a lovely weekend!

Katy and Maple Class

Next week's learning

Maths: Fractions and time problems

English: Writing: Character descriptions, Guided Reading: Information texts, Spelling: "ate" suffix

Science: Solubility of materials

Topic: Structure and importance of rivers

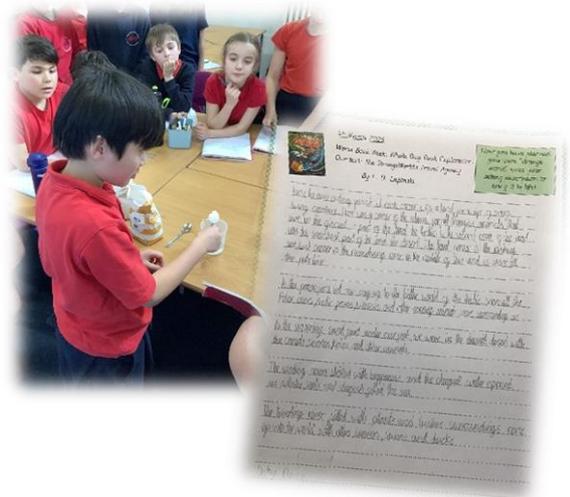

RE: What is a pilgrimage?

This week's awards

No celebration

assembly this week due to our World Book Day parade!

Reminders

This term's PE days are
Monday & Tuesday